

Risk Disclosure

High-risk Investment

Margin trading involves high-risk investment and may not be suitable for all investors. Excessive leverage can have negative or positive effects on you. Possible scenarios include taking losses in excess of investment. Before you decide to buy or sell foreign exchange, you should carefully consider your investment objectives, trading experience and acceptance of risks. Investment should be aware of all risks involved in foreign exchange transactions. If in doubt, please seek financial advice.

Market Comment

Any comments, news, research, analysis, price or other information published on this website shall only be considered as general market information and shall not constitute investment advice. CPT Markets shall not be responsible for any loss or loss (including but not limited to any loss of profit) which may arise from direct or indirect use or reliance on such information.

Accuracy Of Data

The contents of this website are provided only to assist traders in making independent investment decisions and can be changed at any time without notice.

CPT Markets have taken reasonable measures to ensure the accuracy of the website, but cannot ensure data accuracy, we are not responsible for directly or indirectly for web content or you cannot login web site, through this web site of any instruction, notice on the send and receive appear delay, failed to send or receive the possible losses or damages.

Pulish

The contents of this website are not unpublished or made available to all persons prohibited by their national laws from carrying out such activities for any purpose.

All the services and investments mentioned in this website shall not apply to persons whose residence is prohibited by the laws of the state. Visitors to this website are responsible for identifying and complying with the laws and regulations of their respective countries.

Third party links

The links between the third party websites are convenient for you to refer to. These sites are not controlled by CPT Markets and do not necessarily follow the same rules as CPT Markets for privacy, security or access standards. CPT Markets do not endorse or guarantee the products provided by third party suppliers, and CPT Markets are not responsible for the security, content or availability of third party websites, their partners or advertisers.